

RESEARCH PROPOSALS: SOCIAL JUSTICE IN EAP

Selection criteria for the Panel

The global forum for
EAP professionals

Relevance to the theme

When looking at the proposals, consider:

- whether the purpose of the project is well linked to the theme of Social Justice (i.e. it aims to reveal basis of achievement; increase inclusion; improve representation, etc.);
- whether its focus is clear.

Quality of the research plan

Consider:

- “practicality” of what is proposed:
  - o does the rationale establish significance / need / research gap?
  - o is the research question clearly formulated?
- whether the literature review is comprehensive (within the constraints of the document) and demonstrates understanding and knowledge of existing practices;
- whether the methods are fit for purpose;
- whether the outcomes are realistic given the proposed timeline and budget;
- whether the applicant is being realistic about their needs and challenges;
- whether thorough consideration was given to ethics.

Impact / sustainability / transferability

Consider:

- the project evaluation (how will the impact be measured / documented?);
- benefits for the local context (lessons learnt);
- benefits for the membership (lessons learnt);
- lifespan beyond the project;
- quality and accessibility of the output (well outlined, varied in terms of media and audiences).
